A Message from . . .

OUR SUPERINTENDENT

TO THE GRADUATES OF 1963:

My sincere congratulations upon your graduation. I have not known you long but I have come to admire every one of you for your sincerity and determination which are admirable qualities. The desire to help others and your drive to succeed will provide the ingredients for success and happiness as you leave here.

Your commencement means different things to each one of you. Some of you will go on to higher learning and others will go out into the world of work. Regardless of your next placement, all of you will soon realize that leaving school is not the end to learning. You will have many opportunities to improve yourselves. Use them diligently and success will be yours.

Messages from . . .

DEAR GRADUATES:

You have successfully met the challenge of high school and you now go to a fuller life of many new challenges. We pray that the knowledge we have helped you acquire will give you the needed wisdom to meet each new challenge with confidence and vigor.

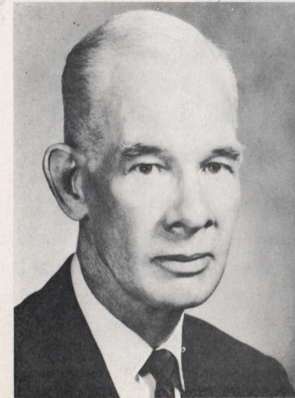

WILBER FULKER
Assistant Principal
Department for the Blind

TO THE CLASS OF 1963:

I am very happy to give you a few words of praise for what you have accomplished and a few words of encouragement for the future. You will find that there is much more praise and encouragement waiting for you in the years ahead. There is help ahead also, but you must seek these things—you must earn them. The way to do this may be found in a much-loved song. It says:

"When you walk through a storm, keep your head up high.
At the end of the storm is a golden sky.
Walk on through the rain, tho' your dreams
be tossed and blown.
Walk on, walk on with hope in your heart.
And you'll never walk alone, you'll never walk alone."

JAMES R. KIRKLEY
Assistant Principal
Department for the Deaf dedicates this issue of The Columbine to

Mr. Leo R. Gottlieb

Venerable, Loved, and Loyal President of Our Board of Trustees

Who for a great many years has contributed so freely and gladly of his time and talents to make this a better school and the world a better place for the deaf and the blind. What we offer here is small reward for the kindly heart, cherished dreams, the devotion and the dignity with which he has in reality dedicated himself to us.

SALUTATORY

by JANICE HARRIS

AS Salutatorian for the Class of 1963 and in behalf of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind, I welcome you to our graduation exercises.

Dr. Sonderman, we are indeed pleased to have you as our speaker, and hope you will be a frequent visitor to our school in the future.

Members of the Board of Trustees, we are honored by your presence and we especially wish to welcome those of you who are here for the first time.

Mr. Turechek and Members of the School Staff, we are happy to have so many of you here to share this moment with us. It is because of your devotion and efforts on our behalf that we are graduating today.

We give an especially warm welcome to our parents and family friends. You set this goal for us many years ago. You have watched our progress and encouraged us year by year. It is wonderful to have you here today, because this is truly your moment of triumph as well as ours.

Thank you all for coming, and again I give you a very warm welcome.

VALEDICTORY

by BEVERLY DAVIS

MR. TURECHEK, Members of the Board, faculty, houseparents, fellow students, parents, relatives, and friends:

This day has been long-awaited and will be long remembered by each of us in this, the class of 1963. We are proud to be graduating from this school which we have come to love and depend upon for the countless opportunities which have been afforded us during our school years here. Our graduation fills our hearts with mixed feelings, for there is happiness on-account-of our having reached this important plateau in life and completing our high school education. However, there is also a note of sadness, because we will leave behind many cherished friendships and happy experiences that have meant so much to us. The many warm memories that we will take with us will linger through the years to come. Also, there is an eagerness in our hearts to go out in the world to do our best in whatever we may undertake and eventually to take our own individual place in that world. Some of us will go on to college and some will achieve the goals desired in many other ways, and we are all hoping and will be working for success.

On this occasion we are more than ever, aware of the thanks that we owe to the many people without whom this day may never have become a reality for us.

Mr. Turechek, all of us would like to thank you for all the hours spent in the administration of the school and the efforts which you have so generously made for the constant betterment of it. Your work has been greatly appreciated.

Members of the Board, we thank you for the facilities and carefully-chosen teachers which you have provided for us all through school. This has been a most important factor in our learning and we are sincerely grateful to you.

To the faculty, we say a special thanks for your time, effort, and patience at all times. Our notice of and appreciation for these things are truly sincere. Again, we say thank you.

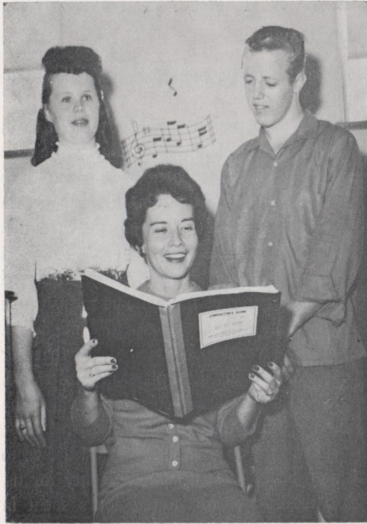

To our houseparents; we thank you for your encouragement and understanding. Your help at various times and in various situations, and the many hours which you have spent with us have been deeply appreciated.

Fellow students, to you goes a warm thanks for your friendships, kindness, and the good times which we have shared with all of you. These happy and often rewarding experiences in many ways, have meant a great deal to us. Also, we would say to you, "Always work hard and never give up. You will one day find that it was well worthwhile."

To our parents we owe the loudest thanks of all. Thanks for your confidence, understanding, and most of all your love which has been of the utmost importance in these years. We hope sincerely to live up to your ambitions for us.

We thank you, relatives and friends, for coming to share this special day with us. Your presence here today is very much appreciated by all of us.

After today we will no longer be a part of the school which has been so important to us in so many ways, but we will go from it with all the knowledge and learning which we have gained while in school here. As we go, we will have many opportunities to remember our motto and think about the meaning of it. "The end crowns the work." Life is made up of many beginnings and ends which we are anxious to readily and successfully meet. Once more, from the bottom of our hearts, we say a very grateful "thank you."

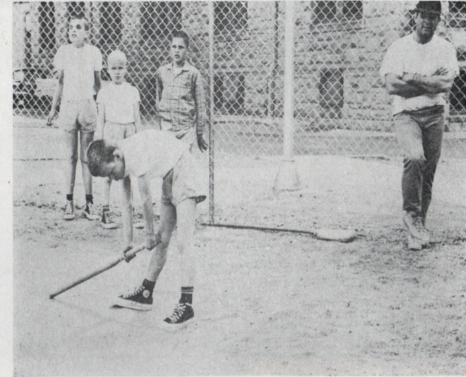

Bye Bye Birdie

In November the Senior Choir attended a performance of the Broadway musical, "Bye Bye Birdie," given by members of the Congregational Church and its Youth groups. By the second week in January our Senior and Junior Choirs presented the same play, with the help of several adult members of Congregational Church cast in adult roles, plus the welcome and enthusiastic backstage help of the Youth Groups. This was an exciting experience for all of us, for not only did we have a musical show which was challenging and fun to work with, but the association with the people who helped was enjoyable and we all made many new friends. The leading teen-age roles were played by Bev Davis and Larry Kopcho; other adult parts were taken by members of our faculty. Mr. Turechek interpreted the play for the Deaf Department at the performance. Ever since January the halls have been ringing with "You Gotta Be Sincere" and "We Love You Conrad!"
